Retail Prices Index

The Retail Prices Index ("Index") for the quarter ended 30 September 2025 has now been completed.

The Index has increased by 0.9% to 126.349. The change in the Index over the year to 30 September 2025 has been 2.7%.

Date	Index	Quarterly % Increase/ (Decrease)	Annual % Increase/ (Decrease)
30.09.2024	123.056	-1.4%	-0.1%
31.12.2024	124.045	0.8%	0.5%
31.03.2025	125.059	0.8%	0.7%
30.06.2025	125.181	0.1%	0.3%
30.09.2025	126.349	0.9%	2.7%

Inflation increased again this quarter, driven largely by the increases to Government services brought in through the 25/26 budget, particularly rent. A slight increase in the cost of diesel also played a part, as did increases in services across the board. Overall volatility decreased, with fewer items recording changes of 0.1% or more.

Annual change: Fuel and power represented the biggest annual change (-1.3%) once again, as the earlier drops in kerosene and diesel continue to be felt regardless of the increase in diesel this month. Similarly, the 12-month evolution of diesel prices continued to have a net deflationary effect on the transport category, albeit less pronounced than in the previous quarter. Housing costs continued to increase, fuelled largely by the increase in Falkland Islands Government rents, service charge, and timber.

Quarterly change: Increased rents and service charge had a more pronounced impact on the quarterly inflation figure, accounting for over half of the increase. That increase was counterbalanced by the drop in kerosene prices, which dragged down inflation in the fuel and power category. Despite the high inflation in the United Kingdom, the food and non-alcoholic category posted a very modest increase this quarter, suggesting that the lag between United Kingdom prices and Falkland Islands shelf prices is still ongoing.
